HOAGLAND'S

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

CURRENT NOTES.

It may interest some readers to know that the Kakebeka Falls are on the Kamanistiquia river.

An Illinois paper attempts to tell its readers the meaning of a word which it spells "plebilisum."

Since the acquittal of McFarland a New York paper thinks Cain was normally insane when he killed Abel, and ought to have been acquitted.

The Speaker's chair of the House of Delegates, Richmond, destroyed at the recent disaster, bore the British coat of arms, which was used in the House of Burgesses when Virginia was an English Colony.

"And Satan smote Job with boils," is now rendered, "And Satan smote Job with circumscribed subcutaneous inflammations, characterized by pointed tumors, and suppurating with central cores."

The returns from the gold fields of Nova Scotia for 1869 show a small falling off in the yield of gold as compared with the previous year. The declared returns of the past eight years show a yield of 157,682 ounces.

In Providence, R. I., the other day, a man refused to pay his three-weeks bride's fine for drunkenness. He said she was "a pretty fair sort of woman," but he was afraid of establishing a bad precedent, so she went to jail.

It is reported that the contractors who are to build the remaining section of forty miles of the New York Midland railroad will import 1,000 Chinese to do the work, employing them for five years, at ten dollars a month and rations.

An advertisement was sent to the Cleveland Herald office recently, in which occurred the words, "The Christian's Dream: No Cross, No Crown." The blundering compositor made it read—"The Christian's Dream: No Cows, No Cream!"

A Yankee who had been bragging of the victories of the Revolution, was referred by an Englishman to the battle of White Plains, at which the Americans were severely beaten. The Yankee hesitated a little, and then remarked that "at that battle the Americans somehow didn't seem to take any interest in the fight."

The present consumption of wood in the United States is enormous. It is estimated that 150,000 acres of the best timber is cut every year to supply the demand for railway sleepers alone. For railroad buildings, repairs and cars, the annual expenditure for wood is $38,500,000. In a single year the locomotives in the United States consume $56,000,000 worth of wood.

The Mayor and City Council of St. Louis have instructed the City Council to bring suit against the Gas Company to compel them to sell the gas works to the city, as provided by the contract. To offset this, the Gas Company has brought suit against the city for various sums alleged to be due for gas furnished the city in the past three years, aggregating over $300,000.

Among other relics collected by J. T. Goodman, of the Nevada Territorial Enterprise, in his Eastern and European tour, is a well executed photograph of Mark Twain, and also one of his wife. She is a better looking woman than he is a man, and beneath her portrait are these badly scrawled words: "Autograph of Mrs. S. L. Clemens, written by her husband, Mark Twain."

The Province of Ontario is copying after our brilliant State of Delaware. It has set up the whipping post and pillory, under an act passed last year, and the first punishment was recently ordered by the court sitting at London. The culprit got twenty lashes on the bare back, and justice was vindicated. This is the first case on this continent of Southern civilization traveling northward. It marks a new Canadian era.

The New York Times when it says Senator Saulsbury may, after all be right in his suggestion that the only Arctic expedition worthy of Government subsidy would be one which should finally undertake to remove the North Pole itself, and put an end to the waste of life and treasure. The sum of $1 00 000 was voted recently to carry on some further explorations in this connection. The money might have been better applied in looking for new oyster or clams beds, or discovering a new method for capturing sharks.

Edward D. Baker.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

Among Californians no man was more popular in his time than Edward D. Baker, and when the telegraph flashed across a continent the news of his sudden and untimely taking off, our citizens felt as though each had lost a personal friend. They knew that he had given up his life in the noblest of causes. His lofty and burning eloquence has often held them entranced for hours together, and the silvery echoes of his melodious voice seems yet ringing in their ears, though the hand of time has scored a decade since he left the Pacific coast for the post of duty. The career of the illustrious Senator was one which may well be emulated by the rising generation, who should be taught to revere the memory of those who fell in the great fight. In visiting the city of the dead, at Lone Mountain, we often ask ourselves, as we stand by the simple tablet that marks the resting place of Baker's remains, is it possible that he should be so soon forgotten by the people he loved so well? else how can it be that no monumental marble or iron ribbed granite is reared to teach generations to come an example that leads to honor, distinction and fame?" "It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country," and when the patriot has given up his all, it should be a sacred duty among the people to do his memory reverence and honor. Near by Baker sleeps his friend Broderick. Friends have done for Broderick what the people should do for Baker. How long will the neglected tomb speak in silent tones, of disgraceful neglect, and appeal to the visitor, as he stops to read the meaningless inscription? The people of San Francisco owe it to themselves and the revered dead to erect a fitting monument to his patriotism. To the Grand Army of the Republic belongs the sacred duty of perpetuating the memory of the gallant Baker. A proper movement inaugurated by them would surely become popular and ensure the erection of an imposing and lasting monument to mark where Baker sleeps.

THE EFFECT OF GEN. SHERIDAN'S POLICY.—The Sioux City Journal approves of Gen. Sheridan's policy in his management of hostile Indians, and gives the following happy illustration. It is the only safe policy that can be adopted in dealing with savage foes:

A gentleman from Fort Stephenson, who has arrived in this city, says that the report of an exaggerated number of soldiers destined for that section, has had a very salutary effect on the Indians. They are now as urbane and docile as it is in their nature to be. It was reported at the Fort a short time before he left, that there were ten steamers at Sioux City, each with 500 soldiers on board, ready to start for the forts along the river. The effect that this report had upon the Indians, he says, was extremely amusing. Before this, when a white man met an Indian in a path, he would stop, draw his blanket around him, throw back his head, and altogether present an unpleasant front. If the white man did not step aside, and give him the path, he would make signs in the direction of his revolver or bring down his gun, in a position denoting anything but a friendly design. He further states that before this report was circulated there, the Indians did not hesitate to disembowel a white man's horse before his face. But now, things have changed. When a white man meets an Indian, the Indian steps promptly to one side, makes awkward salutations, smiles in a friendly manner, and says "How?" Notwithstanding these outward manifestations, it is plain to be seen that the Indians mean mischief. They will pay any price for arms and ammunition, a fact which argues strongly against the honesty of their present friendly attitude.

The New Election Law of Congress.

SQUIRMING AND DODGING OF THE REPEATERS.

[From the New York Herald, June 1st.]

The President yesterday approved the bill recently passed by Congress entitled "An act to enforce the right of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States of this Union, and for other purposes." It fulminates the fifteenth amendment in some of its sections, and in others it lays down certain rules, the general aim of which is to secure the purity of the ballot box in elections of representatives, to provide that the fabric of national government shall not be undermined by fraudulent practices at the polls. Certainly this is a good and honest aim. Laws to prevent dishonesty or punish it are harmless and ineffective pieces of paper if the dishonesty described in them has no existence; but if that dishonesty is found to be a serious and growing evil such laws must be satisfactory to all lovers of fair play, to the millions who are honest, and can be oppressive only to the rogues.

But it is argued against the present law that it is an encroachment upon the rights of the people, because to legislate to this effect transcends the power of Congress. This saying that Congress is exercising doubtful power is the poll parrot utterance of a sore headed opposition that wastes itself in drivel. One of the constitution doctors of that opposition prates thus of the law:—"The bill which has passed both houses of Congress by a strictly party vote purports to have been passed under the fifteenth amendment of the constitution. There is, of course, no other authority that can be pretended for it, since the constitution, in its original purity, and down to the time of the alleged adoption of the fifteenth amendment, took no notice of the qualifications of electors even for any federal office, excepting to provide that in choosing Representatives in Congress the same persons should have the right to vote who have it under the law of the respective States in choosing the members of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature." Now this is the ignorance of a man who expounds a constitution he never read. There is no point clearer, and there are few points so clear in our constitutional law, as that Congress has supreme and unqualified power, whenever it may choose to assert it, over the whole subject of the election of Representatives in Congress. That power it asserts in this bill, and it distinctly, specifically and expressly declares that it asserts no more. It is even a gratuitous assumption to treat this bill as "purporting to have been passed under the fifteenth amendment," since it does not necessarily rest upon that part of the constitution. In the first article of the constitution, section four, are the following words:—"The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing Senators." If this is not an authority how can authority be given? Here is only one limitation upon the power of Congress to sweep away every line of State law on the subject of the election of members and to put in place of that law the will of the nation as expressed through Congress. Any arrangements as to the election of Congressmen hitherto made in the States Congress may modify, or it may completely substitute others; only it shall not legislate as to the place of choosing Senators. All, therefore, that is in this so-called fifteenth amendment bill is as clearly within the authority of the national legislature, under the "constitution as it was," as is the power to pass a naturalization law.

Not only, therefore, are the objectors to the bill—the rogues who feel the halter draw—ignorantly wrong in their constitutional point, but they are pitifully maladroit in the squirm they make to the effect that if Congress thus asserts power over the election of members the State may put all other elections on some other day. This poor dodge might avail if Congress did not see fit thereupon to declare that members should be chosen upon the day of the general State election; but it is a clear acknowledgment of what the repeaters fear. Congress puts the election in the hands of United States marshals, and empowers these officers to call upon the mass of the people, or the militia, or the land and naval forces of the United States, to guarantee a fair vote. If the election is overlooked by soldiers, officered by resolute men, who have and can have no stake in the civil contest, a gang of repeaters will not walk up to a poll in this city and deposit votes by the handful in defiance of the authorities, or with the assent of the authorities. We will fairly get at the real political complexion of places like this city—and upon the election of Congressmen we shall at least have a point of comparison to judge of other elections—even if enforced honesty on one ticket shall not secure a like benefit on all the rest.

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

[From the Walla Walla Union, June 11.]

We learn that there is a party, numbering between forty and fifty persons, at Pen d'Oreille City, composed of engineers and surveyors, who are prospecting the country thereabouts in behalf of the North Pacific Railroad. Among the number is W. W. Johnson, formerly one of our townsmen, practical engineer and surveyor. The party expect and are awaiting the arrival of Capt. John Mullan, who is to join them there with a party. This point, we learn, is a place of rendezvous, and from it there are several routes to be examined, and reported on as soon as practicable. From our knowledge of the country, we think it very likely that a good pass will be found down the south side of the Pen d'Oreille river, and the probable crossing of that river will be at, or near, the Rock Island rapids, some 20 miles above the Cabinet Landing. There are three spurs of mountains that put into the Lake at right angles, between the upper and lower steamboat landings, which it may be necessary to tunnel, one at least, unless a pass should be found south of them. We have been informed, by mountain men, that there exists a pass to the south end of those spurs, and cutting them off from the main Cœur d'Alene mountain ranges. This would save a deal of work, and would place the road bed on a very favorable altitude comparatively speaking. This looks like business, and shows an earnestness we were not expecting to witness so soon. We think it altogether probable that the Pen d'Oreille pass will be the one selected, when the route will be finally located. From this we may reasonably expect that ground will be broken on this end at an early period. The Spokane prairie is very favorable for a speedy construction of the road, when it shall be determined to run it over the entire length, which is some 30 miles, of the Spokane valley. There is not an elevation of over 20 feet, the entire length of this portion of the country; and it needs only to be seen to be appreciated; and its adoption we think a foregone conclusion.

European Armaments.

Herr Kummer, a Prussian officer, has lately published a pamphlet on the military organizations of the great powers since 1866, and as he has drawn his statistics from official sources, they are presumed to be correct. In this work, the effective strength of the federal army of Northern Germany is estimated at 944,421 men. Add to this multitude the war contingents of the South German States, and the armed force of Germany amounts to one million and one hundred and twenty seven thousand soldiers. Or, deduct the number of soldiers required for magazines, garrisons, &c., and Northern Germany could send into the field an army of 550,000 men, and South Germany an army of 107,500.

The French army, according to its present organization, the reserve included, comprehends 647,000 men on a war footing.

Austria could send into the field about 300,000 men. Hence the military strength of the German Confederation is equal to the strength of France and Austria combined.

In case of war, Russia could bring together on its western frontier in two months an army of about 150,000 men.

The Italian army is estimated at 200,000 men.

On the strength of these figures furnished by a Prussian officer, a French journal argues against the notion that it is the great armies of the other powers which compel the German Confederation to keep up its vast military organization. On the contrary, it is alleged that the Confederation of the North, that is, Prussia could, without danger to itself, set the other powers the example of general disarmament; since, even reduced to a peace footing, its effective army still exceeds that of every other power placed on a war footing.

Abortive Duel—Laughable Farce.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald relates a little affair between Major Hutchins, a plucky little New Hampshire man from Georgia, and Colonel Quintus Curtius Washington, who is obviously a Virginian of the very best family. The exact reason why the fight fell through is stated by Colonel Washington's friends to be that the thing was not done up according to the code. Of course no gentleman of Southern proclivities, especially a first family Virginian, would cut up an enemy or be cut up by him, except according to the strict letter of the law. The "unpleasantness" seems to have grown out of some remarks made by one of the parties on a speech delivered by Senator Morton of Indiana. The Herald's correspondent thus speaks of the parties:

Hutchins, the challenger in this case, is a man of lilliputian stature, scarcely four feet high, whom the Washingtonites liken to a frog in Wellington boots. He was formerly a newspaper man, and during the war served in the Union army with more or less distinction. He seemed anxious and willing for a fight, and his friends outside of this city are urging him forward to bloody deeds which will chastise rebel insolence and arrogance. Colonel Washington is at present the correspondent of the London Telegraph, and also of some American papers. He was on the Confederate side during the rebellion, and for a time filled an important part in the War or Treasury Department of the Confederacy. He is said to be a warm personal friend of both Slidell and Benjamin. Washington has already fought two duels, and it is said that Hutchins is equally famous in that gentlemanly and chivalrous particular. Last summer Washington was mixed up in a difficulty with a Baltimorean at White Sulphur Springs, Va., but the affair was amicably arranged before a hostile meeting occurred. Washington is nearly six feet high, and therefore in case of a renewal of difficulty, Hutchins would have a decided shooting advantage. To obviate this inequality and give Washington a fair show, it is proposed to chalk out on Washington's body a figure the size of Hutchins and every shot outside thereof shall not count. It is also suggested that a good plan would be to fight with broadswords at twenty paces distance. Johnny Coyle weepingly declares he was not one of Hutchins' seconds, but only a friend interposing for the sake of peace. It is not believed that any further steps will be taken to draw blood in the present affair.

The Oregon Election.

[From the S. F. Bulletin.]

It is tolerably certain that the Democrats have elected their State ticket in Oregon, and will maintain a small majority in the Legislature. The returns show a considerable Republican gains, and the former Democratic legislative majority of 17 on joint ballot may be reduced to six or eight. This is enough, however, to prevent the re-election of Senator Williams, and to insure the return of a Democrat in his place, so that the representation of Oregon, like that of California, will be divided in the upper house of Congress. The retiracy of Mr. Williams from the Senate will be cause of much regret, both on this coast and at Washington. He is one of the ablest men ever sent to Congress from the Pacific States, and his perfect integrity is unquestioned. In politics he has been radical without violence, and in the practical business of legislation he has been industrious and faithful to public interests, showing an intelligence and breadth of view unusual in these days of blatant mediocrity. His term expires on the 4th of March next. The Legislature which elects his successor will meet at Salem on the second Monday in September next, and in the same month the Democratic Governor elect, Grover, will be inaugurated. The worst feature about the result in Oregon is the quassi endorsement given to the policy of repudiation, which was set forth in the Democratic platform. A mere change of parties is nothing, in a broad consideration of permanent results, but a change which involves approval of a dishonorable policy reflects discredit on a State, and strengthens dishonest partisanship everywhere.

In Memoriam.

HALL OF BLUE MOUNTAIN CHAPTER,
No. 7, R. A. M.
CANYON CITY, June 6, 1870.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by Blue Mountain Chapter No. 7, Royal Arch Masons, In memory of Andrew Danley:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his Infinite Wisdom to remove from this earth by death our well beloved companion, therefore be it

Resolved, That we sincerely regret the loss of our deceased companion, and tender to his relatives our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That as a mark of our appreciation of the worth and exalted virtues of our companion, the Hall be draped in mourning and the members wear the usual badge for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the M. E. H. Priest, attested by the Secretary and bearing the impression of the seal of this Chapter, be transmitted to the relatives of our deceased companion.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Records of this Chapter, and be published in the OREGONIAN.

Attest, C. G. CASTLO, Sec. B. M. C.

THURSDAY MORNING JUNE 16 1870

Republican Prospects

The Washington Chronicle on a survey of the political field thinks the signs of the times were never more favorable for the success of the National Republican party than now More than a year of President Grant's administration has expired and its policy has been fully unfolded to the country Its honesty its economy its steady diminution of the debt recommend it to the favor of all the people The firmness with which the reins of Government have been held indicate a vigor unsurpassed by any previous administration The President's plainly indicated purpose to faithfully obey and execute the laws is sure to save the country any renewal of the unhappy scenes which transpired under the rule of the arrogant and lawless Andrew Johnson Prophecies of a breach between President Grant and Congress made by Democrats, with whom the wish was father to the thought, have signally failed The cordial relations which existed at the beginning between the executive and legislative branches of our Republican Administration have grown constantly stronger, and now our opponents have no hope of profiting by anything like a rupture in the dominant party

Republican members of Congress who soon go before the people for re-election have now no use to join with the President, as they had with Johnson when the pestilent policy of the latter was on trial at the polls Whatever influence is used by the Administration in the coming election will be brought to bear in favor of the Republican candidates. The immediate future of the party throughout the country, is most promising In Oregon, though we have been defeated we have made substantial gains, and if we can do this in Oregon there is no fear of bad results in the strong Republican States With the prestige of an almost unbroken series of victories, and with the popularity procured by unexceptionable Executive and Congressional records, the success of the party has "assurance doubly sure

Internal Taxes

By the act of July, 1866, direct taxes upon the people were removed to the amount of $65,000,000 By the act of March 1867, $40,000,000 were taken off $25 000 000 by the act of February, 1868, 45,000 000 by the acts of March and July of the same year—making $175,000,000 in all This steady reduction has still left a large surplus to be applied to the reduction of the national debt, or to relief from other burdensome taxes For the present year, taxes remaining unchanged, and the estimates of expenditures made at the beginning of the year holding good, there would be a surplus of $100,000,000 upon the basis of the existing law But it is now generally admitted that it is not well to keep up the taxes to a rate that will produce so large a surplus revenue A further large reduction has therefore been decided on.

It is estimated that under the new act of Congress the total reduction of taxes cannot be less than $55,000,000 On liquors, tobacco, lotteries, amusements, banks, etc, the taxes remain heavy, but the burden is almost wholly lifted from ordinary business, commerce, manufactures, and necessities of the people. The reduction of the income tax to three per cent., and the exemption of $2,000 from taxation will relieve from the tax fully half those who have heretofore borne it.

The M. E. Church Lay Delegation.

For some time past, as all know, there has been an animated contest in the Methodist Episcopal Church on the question of admitting Lay Delegations into the General Conferences of that body We have it from the New York Tribune of recent date that this contest has been finally decided by the vote of the East Maine Annual Conference. The vote of this body, the last in the United States before which the subject had to be brought, swells the number of ministers voting aye to the requisite three-fourths 4,906 ministers have now voted for and 1,634 against the proposed change The Mission Conference in Germany, which has 45 members, remains to be heard from, but as its total vote, even if solidly cast against Lay Delegation, would still give to the opponents of the measure one vote less than one-fourth of the whole vote cast, Lay Delegation may now be proclaimed as having been carried, and as being henceforth an integral part of the economy of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Tribune adds these comments

The struggle, which now belongs to the past, has been in some respects one of general interest. It is a remarkable instance of how the large denominations accommodate themselves to the tendencies of the age and the sentiments of the people. Methodism has grown strong in this country, not only without recognizing in its church constitution the principle of lay delegation, but in a spirit of decided opposition to it and it was one of the most effective arguments of the opponents of change that a system under which Episcopal Methodism had within a brief period become the most numerous of the Protestant denominations of the country should not be abandoned for one whose efficacy had yet to be tested About forty years since the Church consented to the withdrawal of a large body of members, who have since become known as the Methodist Protestant Church, rather than admit the laity to the councils of the denomination Some years ago a vote was taken of both ministry and laity on the subject, when it was found that a decided majority of both were opposed to lay delegation

The turning of the tide began in 1860, when the friends of the reform undaunted by former defeats, began to call in the aid of the press and established The Methodist as the organ of the movement in this city Their struggle has been a hard one but it is now over In ten years they have revolutionized the Methodist system of church government

On Monday next the annual city election will be held One Councilman is to be elected for each Ward and an additional Councilman for the Third Ward to fill an unexpired term We suppose party nominations will be made as has heretofore been the case It is time that Republicans in the several Wards should begin to cast about for suitable candidates so that good men may be put in nomination With a little effort the Republicans may elect the Councilmen in every Ward

There is nothing new to report in regard to the election except the official returns from Wasco county Judge Wilson has two majority in that county In the last election Smith carried it by 169 Here is a gain of 171 votes, which is larger than the gain in any other county except Multnomah

THE MEANEST COWARDICE OF ALL—And now the President is asked to intercede on the part of the bold Fenians who went to capture Canada and got caught This is pitiful These terrible fellows who would hear of no remonstrance and yield to no moral restraint, who would have war and rapine and pillage, now cannot endure even the consequences of their own acts and must beg off For the President to accede to the demand would certainly make such outrages marvellously cheap —N Y Herald

POLITICAL ITEMS

It is rumored that Ben Wade wants to make a jump forward in the race for Gen Garfield's seat in Congress

For the first time in a long while harmony and good feeling pervades the Illinois Congressional delegation Trumbull invited Logan to dinner the other day and bygones were forgotten over the mahogany

Gov John T Hoffman is considered certain of being renominated by the Democrats of New York next fall John M Francis of the Troy Times and John A Griswold are mentioned as candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor

A new paper will shortly be published in New York under the title of The Free Press It will be issued weekly for the present, and subsequently as a morning daily In politics it will be of the young democracy order, and of course opposed to Tammany Hall Charles R Farrell, for many years connected with the New York Herald, and for the past three years its city editor, has been selected as the editor

The New York Herald characterizes the late election in the State of New York so far as affording a test of the strength of parties as a Democratic victory which signifies nothing From official returns from most of the counties, and generally accepted estimates from the rest, it appears that the whole vote cast will not exceed 430 000, against 849 776 cast in 1868, showing a deficiency of 419 776 or about one half of the vote of the State which lost the stay at home Republicans count 250 000 and the Democrats 180,000

The Republican State Central Committee of Kentucky has issued an address congratulating the party upon the brilliant prospect in the campaign before them urging upon them the necessity of at once perfecting a thorough and active organization in every county and voting precinct The Committee say Through local organizations and their machinery urged to action by every man with the good of the party and with the best interests of the State of Kentucky at heart a glorious triumph of right over wrong economy over extravagance, justice over injustice and freedom over tyranny will be effected Yes, here—even in Kentucky

Speaking of the fact that Oregon has declared for repudiation the San Francisco Chronicle says "It is fortunate that Oregon will possess but little or no influence in the national councils and that there is no probability of her influence for evil being actively exerted or felt outside the circumscribed limits of the State The selection of a majority of Democratic members of the Legislature insuring the election of a Democratic United States Senator in lieu of George H Williams is to be regretted for Mr Williams is one of the ablest of the Republican Senators Conservative in his views he has commanded the respect of all his compeers and the confidence of the nation"

THE WEST

The City Council of Walla Walla has appropriated $150 toward celebrating the Fourth of July

A recent frost destroyed the fruit and foliage of about 7,000 of the 10,000 grape vines in the vineyard on the old Gwin rancho near Snelling Merced county, California

The real and personal property of California is returned by the Assessors at an aggregate not exceeding $240,000 000 The Bulletin claims that the cash value of property in San Francisco alone amounts to $300,000,000

The Arizona and Sonora Mining Company propose, it is said, to send out a party of one hundred men, armed with picks and rifles, to work mines and repel Indians in Arizona The expedition will leave San Francisco about the 1st of August

Of crops in San Joaquin valley the Stockton Republican says On the western side of the San Joaquin river, the wheat crop is a total failure this season The whole surface of the country now presents a dry, parched up appearance, and the angel of death, in the shape of dry hot winds, has desolated the grain fields

Arrangements have been made by the Bunker Hill Society, San Francisco, to celebrate the anniversary of the capture of Breed's Hill by the British forces under General Howe, June 17, 1775, by a picnic excursion to Belmont. By order of General Ord salutes will be fired in honor of the day from Alcatraz and Fort Point.

Kong Chee, Ah Chung and Hog Quart, transacting business at Hornitos, Mariposa county, says the San Francisco Chronicle under the firm name of Hip Yik & Co are likely to have the honor of being the first involuntary Chinese bankrupts in this country Lee Won Long a merchant of San Francisco, informs the United States District Court that he is a creditor of the firm to the amount of $7 000 and he prays that they may be declared bankrupt

More of the "Time Honored" Doings in Wasco

DALLES June 14, 1870

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The die is cast. The fiat has gone forth Time honored practices of the Democracy still ahead in Wasco Great is the exultation and joy in the camp thereof And already they are making preparations for greater villainy if possible

The official count was had to day, and the final result declared in the success of all their rascally meanness and infamous purposes

It is just as it was two years ago, only more so Fulton gets the certificate over Waldron by one majority The candidates for Treasurer stand a tie. They have designedly counted our Surveyor in as that was an office they did not care for, and their candidate was too much of a man to approve of any unfairness to get it By their "official" count the result stands thus

Wilson, two majority, Grover, eight majority Chadwick ten, Fleischner, eleven, Patterson eleven The vote for Representative, as they declared it, stood thus Waldron and Rowland (Rep), respectively, 314 and 300, Fulton and Savage (Dem), respectively 315 and 320 Vote for Commissioners Mays and Wood (Rep) respectively, 303 and 311 Wingate and Fitzgerald (Dem.) respectively, 313 and 316 Holland (Dem), for Clerk, over McFarland (Rep) 26 Bird (Dem), for Sheriff, over Darragh (Rep) 24

We are determined to make a contest and hope to overcome Bird's majority for Sheriff but he he has the largest majority on their ticket, and in his case we may fail But we are entirely confident we can get all under 25 or 30 which will give us the two Commissioners, Clerk and Treasurer with a good show for Sheriff And if we do not check this worse (in proportion) than Tammany villainy it may as well be concluded once for all that elections in this county are merely shams We should have been defeated in this election that is they would have counted us out, if we had had two votes to their one And it would seem that they are fully determined to hold the county organization against a majority of the people and make their fraud perpetuate itself indefinitely

R

The Marysville (Cal) Appeal contains the following

We have another railroad rumor this time from Sacramento the head quarters of railroad builders and operators Of course the sale of the California Pacific Railroad must be in some manner mixed up in such rumors or they would have no air of plausibility It is now quietly whispered that the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific companies are about to consolidate and that the new company will purchase the Vallejo Railroad Whether or not there is any foundation for such reports of course no one knows except the few men who own the respective roads and they are not in the habit of proclaiming their business on the street corners The Union Pacific has a dangerous rival in the Kansas Pacific road and it might be necessary to push on through Beckwourth Pass as a measure of self preservation Should this be done, a junction of the Central Pacific and Kansas Pacific would be necessary, and there would be two rival transcontinental lines by the central route A consolidation of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific would compel the Kansas Pacific to push through to California, or leave it dependent entirely upon its local traffic with an indefinite terminus.

OREGON

The Mountaineer states that the election in Grant county went Democratic that party electing their entire ticket except ng County Judge and County Treasurer The Republicans elected Hall to the former position and Phillip Metschan to the latter

The Salem Statesman says Mr Jackson has just returned from a trip up the valley to purchase wool of the new crop for the use of the W W Mfg Co at this place He went as far as Eugene City and secured a large amount bringing down nearly 200 bales with him The price contracted to be paid was 20(a)22½ cents per pound

The following is from the Walla Walla ... W Hull who came over from Ahtanum Valley W T., on Thursday evening last, informs us that the Klickitat Saw Mill, owned by Mr N Whitney was destroyed by fire on Wednesday afternoon Mr Chamberlain the sawyer had been in the habit of burning the slabs and refuse stuff about the premises and on this occasion it spread and set fire to the mill There was also consumed one hundred thousand feet of clear lumber The loss is estimated at over $5 000

The Red Bluff (Cal) Independent of June 2d says There seems to be quite a large immigration to Oregon this summer. Scarcely a day goes by but that several teams pass through town on their way to the web nation This emigration seems to be caused by the failure of crops in the lower part of the State A large portion are from the San Joaquin valley, and the general account given by them are that the crops of that valley are almost a total failure Many are well supplied with agricultural implements, and when questioned as to the propriety of taking them with them say they were unable to sell at any price, hence the necessity

The manner in which the escape from the Penitentiary was effected is thus stated by the Salem paper At an early hour on Sunday morning five convicts escaped from the Penitentiary Two of them Weston and Indian Bill were in the Hospital under treatment In the evening, as the men marched from the reading room to their cells, three of them managed to slip into the hospital ward and were concealed by the two sick ones During the night they took up the floor of five inch plank, which had become rotten and made good their escape Three are supposed to have gone in an easterly direction the other two up the river Parties are in search of them in various directions

CHEEK The New York Tribune has the following

The Hon John D Styles represents in Congress the VIth District of Pennsylvania composed of Montgomery and Lehigh Counties That is a Democratic district, and chose Stiles in 1868 by 2 673 majority It is also an iron district, and Mr Stiles on the 4th instant, made a speech against the proposed reduction of the duty on Pig Iron, of which the spirit may be gleaned from the following closing paragraph

But, sir one word more The discussion on this bill has mostly been confined to the Radical portion of this house I have listened to this debate from the beginning The Free Trade theories of the Republican leaders have reached beyond this Capitol Your speeches your votes, are before the country The motion to reduce iron below the rate proposed by your Committee, comes from your chief and leader You have resistless power in both branches of Congress you must take all the responsibility; you must take all the odium that attaches to this legislation; you can not, you shall not escape that responsibility before the people If you deceive them now, be prepared to meet their condemnation '

Mr Stiles may go up to the head His impudence rises above the point of sublimity and leaves us gazing after him in blank amazement

THE "LIVING WONDERS"—Posters are up around town and advertisements are in the papers to the effect that the "Living Wonders" of the Nineteenth Century are coming on the coming steamer and that they will be opened out to an astonished and wondering public, on the 18th 19th and 20th three days wonders, you see at Armory Hall There is a giantess of the female persuasion measuring 20 years of age, 8 feet 1 inch in her stockings and 413 pounds without her chignon—a beautiful woman (so the wood cuts say) with a double chin and majestic presence being altogether a gigantic and accomplished young lady (so the advertisements say) and a "most wonderful" etc Then, there is a Circassian girl with hair standing on end a thousand ways who has been admired by any number of thousands of ladies and gentlemen at London and Sydenham which sufficiently establishes her claims to admiration beyond question Next in the list comes Mons Joseph, a French gentleman who at an early age took a freak of growing at the most remarkable rate, and kept at it till he now weighs over 8 feet high and 460 pounds by Fairbanks scales If the cuts don't deceive us he wears good clothes Then there is a little fellow—scarcely worth noticing a Major Green who has been so dilatory in the matter of physical development that at the age of 32 he weighs less than a pound and a half per year, and can't look over a three foot table without high heeled boots Major Green indeed! He ought to be called Minor Green And all these folks are going to astonish us at a cost of only 50 cents—only a bit apiece for the tall woman, the beautiful girl the big military gent and the tenus major

Gen. Crook Returning —A dispatch received at Headquarters Department of the Columbia [illegible] Captain Eldridge, of Gen. Crook's Staff, announces the arrival of Gen Crook at Umatilla on Tuesday, the 14th inst. He will probably reach here this evening.

About Capt Miller's Late Exploits in Navigation —A friend furnishes us the following concerning an event we mentioned some days ago Capt S F Miller and M J Gallagher engineer of this city have just returned from their trip to Pend d'Oreille lake where they have been employed in bringing the Oregon and Montana Transportation Co's steamers [illegible] and [illegible] down the river of that name to the lake It will be remembered that Capt Miller recently brought the steamer Shoshone on her perilous though successful trip down Snake River and was engaged to undertake this On the [illegible] of this month Capt Miller as pilot and Sheppard Warren an old steamboat man as master with Mr Gallagher as engineer brought the steamer [illegible] down safely through Heron Rapids, although she was completely buried beneath the water at times On the following day they succeeded in bringing the steamer [illegible] through the same rapids to the head of the Cabinet Canyon where both boats now lie until the river falls when they will be brought down to the lake It was a dangerous undertaking requiring experience and judgment and reflects great credit upon Captain Miller and his assistants The boats will hereafter remain upon the lake as it is the best route to the new mines on Cedar creek and avoids the streams and road across the Coeur d'Alene mountains

A Rare Chance for Pleasure Seekers.—Parties desirous of recreation for a few days by the sea shore and not wishing to spend but a short time will upon the occasion of the meeting of the Grand Lodge of F & A M at Astoria during the next week have an opportunity as we understand of feasting and sight seeing On Wednesday evening there is to be a strawberry and ice cream festival and other entertainments given by the ladies of the Episcopalian Church of that place, and on Thursday the commodious side-wheel steamer Jane McNear, accompanied by a band of music will make an excursion to Cape Disappointment and Fort Stevens, affording the excursionists an opportunity of witnessing a target practice with the large mounted guns at both forts given by the officers of the Posts in honor of the occasion and also to visit the Light House at Cape Disappointment where they can obtain a splendid view of the Pacific ocean and Columbia River Bar Parties leaving Portland by the Oregonian on Wednesday morning will arrive at Astoria the same day and have an opportunity of enjoying all the pleasures attendant upon this excursion and return on the same steamer on Saturday if they wish

A Few Errors.—Yesterday morning we had an item about Moses Hogue and a $2 400 hack We have now a few errors to correct The name of the driver is Francis Hoag the carriage cost $2 100; team $1 500 and appurtenances in proportion With these few corrections our first item was well enough We may add by way of detail that the carriage is lined with morocco has a mirror on one side of the seat, and a card case on the other,—all to accommodate the ladies (bless their souls) who may wish to arrange en route stray curls refractory ribbons, or awkwardly fitted chignons etc

Brief Mention —There was a good turn out and pleasant time at the Unitarian strawberry festival last evening

The river is still rising At the Dalles Tuesday night, the Columbia rose four inches at Umatilla two inches

The Rain—The Crops —Mr. Jacob Stitzel who came in from Washington county yesterday, reports that the farmers in that district, hail the rain which has fallen within the last two days, with much joy—as just the thing to ensure bountiful crops of all kinds. Its effects will be particularly beneficial to all late sown grain and to garden vegetables Mr S reports crops of all kinds in Washington county as the most promising known for years

Navigation on the Wallamet —The Albany Democrat states that the steamer Calliope will be laid up for a few weeks, till arrangements can be made for connection at the Oregon City falls The company has at present, no boat on the lower river The stockholders held a meeting last week, and elected eleven Directors—J C Avery, President M Holgate Secretary, and P Harris Treasurer

Oro Fino Theater —"Under the Gaslights was played last night to a good house and justice compels us to say that it was never more effectively mounted nor better played in this city The characters were well sustained throughout the mechanical effects and spectacles were produced perfectly and the whole piece was a success It will be presented, for the last time this evening

The Wear and Tear of Business Life

The cares and labors of business life are apt to tell severely upon the health and constitution of the ardent energetic business man and when the need of some sustaining agent is felt stimulants that cause only a temporary exhilaration and leave the system in a state of [illegible] the first effect has passed off are [illegible] Ascertain as fire leaves behind [illegible] the adulterated [illegible]

From nervous prostration exhaustion and decay [illegible] the digestive machinery will [illegible] Hostetter's Stomach Bitters In that [illegible] which is the purest derivable from any source is tempered by the choicest tonic [illegible] and anti-bilious vegetable extracts and juices, To strengthen recruit solace and purify the system is the mission of the great vegetable specific When the stomach is in a healthy state the bile flows regularly the bowels perform their offices properly and the telegraphic fibres of the nervous system are in perfect working order and enormous amount of labor can be borne without labor or inconvenience and the direct effect of the Bitters is to promote this vigorous condition of the functions upon which the nourishment of the body and its power of endurance mainly depend The great tonic and alterative is therefore warmly recommended for its remarkable strengthening properties to all upon whom the responsibilities of life press heavily and who feel like fainting under the burthen A lively appetite a splendid digestion, elastic spirits, and a marvellous ability to withstand fatigue are among the blessings justly ascribed to the renovating operation of this palatable and powerful cordial Indeed there is nothing in the materia medica that can be compared with it

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here, and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice

The Happy Man.

BY VIRGINIA D. DURKLEY.

A German king, not unknown to fame,
He possessed of an unpronounceable name,
Fell ill one day of the strangest disease,
Of which nothing could cure him or set him at ease.

Physicians were summoned from country and town,
Men of modest pretensions, and those of renown,
Who dosed him with drugs, and to such a degree,
That he wished himself hung, or drowned in the sea.

At length an old monk, with a very grave face,
Said, "But one thing will cure this singular case,
And that, my dear Sovereign—pray do not feel hurt—
Is to put upon you a happy man's shirt."

"That's easily done," all cried with a voice
And the people commenced with great glee to rejoice.
Couriers were sent the whole country around,
But of man quite content, none could be found.

They hunted for days over mountain and sea,
And found one at last in a cave by the sea,
Half blind, lame and deaf; but when found out, alack,
The happiest man had no shirt to his back.

The East River Bridge, New York.

[From the Scientific Press.]

One of the greatest of engineers whom America has possessed, and one of the first in the world in his particular branch, was the late John A. Roebling, of Trenton, N. J. This talented engineer had made a speciality of the construction of suspension bridges and had built two of the boldest in the world—that at Niagara Falls and that at Cincinnati. His last and greatest work, however, was the planning of the East River Bridge, which is to be over a mile long and 130 feet, clear, above the channel of the river. Mr. Roebling died before his plans were followed out; but his projected work is to be carried on to completion, its execution being entrusted to the care of his son.

Our engraving, taken from the Manufacturer and Builder, shows the general appearance of the projected bridge, looking down the river. Its importance will be realized when we remember that fifty-two millions of people are yearly transported across the stream on the present comparatively inefficient ferry boats. Some idea of the magnitude of the work can be obtained from the following description:

There are two piers, as shown in the cut, 1,620 feet apart and 280 feet high, so that the largest ship may pass beneath. The weight of the bridge will be 3,600 tons, and it will sustain a transitory weight up to some 1,400 tons, giving a total of 5,000 tons. Each pier will contain over 900,000 cubic feet of granite, will be hollow, with a base measuring 134 by 32 feet at the water line, and weigh more than 70,000 tons. To support this weight with safety, the surface of the lower part of the foundation will be 17,000 square feet. In each pier there will be two arches for entrance to the bridge, each being 32 feet wide and 120 feet high, and giving passage to a railroad track, a carriage way, and a sidewalk. The bridge will be sustained by four cables made of parallel steel wire, stretched in a bundle nearly a foot thick. These will be anchored in two solid walls which are 3,791 feet apart. Beyond these points, on each side, the approaches are built of arched masonry, commencing at the City Hall in New York and at the junction of Fulton and Sand streets in Brooklyn. Each cable enters through the masonry of the anchor-walls to a distance of twenty feet, and then connects with anchor chains 130 feet long, which form a downward curve so as to convert a part of the tension into downward pressure. The pull on each will amount to about 5,600 tons. But reliance is not placed alone on these huge cables. The bridge is secured likewise by stays from the tops of the piers to the bottom of the bridge, which, it is asserted, will hold the bridge, even if the cables should break, although they would not prevent its sagging in the middle in this case.

In building such a bridge not only must the weight be held up, but care must be taken to prevent its being swayed by heavy gales. For this purpose the cables are not laid in parallel lines, but the outside ones are much further apart at the piers than the width of the bridge, and approach each other, while the reverse is the case with the middle cables.

The first and most difficult step is laying the foundation of the piers; a work which has evoked a display of the highest engineering talent. The general plan of effecting this on the Brooklyn side, where rock is found only at a depth of ninety-seven feet, is as follows: The shore is first dredged out, and then a large caisson floated into position at high tide and firmly secured as the water recedes. The ground beneath the caisson will then be excavated, until the huge affair, sinking by its own weight as the work progresses, shall have reached a point thirty feet below low tide, when additional timber will be laid on top of it to the height of fifteen feet, and filled in with concrete; and when the whole has become firmly fixed in place, the tower will be built on the solid foundation thus obtained.

The caisson is a huge structure, 168 feet long, 102 feet wide and 15 feet high, built of white pine timbers, a foot square, and strongly bolted together, with the seams tarred to render them water-tight, and a sheathing of tin, between two of felt, placed between the outside layers of timber, to make the affair air-tight. The whole does not form a solid mass from top to bottom, but contains a large chamber below, about nine feet high, with sloping walls, the lower part of the four sides of the caisson around this chamber or cavity having a wedge shape in section, eight inches wide at the lower edge and 8¼ feet wide at the top of the chamber. This wedge-shape facilitates the sinking of the caisson, and its sharp lower edge is very strongly constructed. To prevent the corners at the bottom from spreading, great care is taken, and in the second course, at each corner, a knee of hard-wood timber, extending twenty feet each way, is inserted.

Six shafts lined with half-inch boiler iron, pass through the roof of the caisson. Two are water-shafts, rectangular, 6½x7 feet, in which the water collecting in the caisson will rise, forced by the atmospheric pressure. Two are man-shafts, of circular shape, through which the workmen will pass and the earth is hoisted. Two are air-shafts, also circular, and 3½ feet in diameter. Air will be forced into the chamber, expelling the water and enabling the laborers to work on the bottom. As fast as these excavate the earth, they will deposit around the shafts, through which a dredging machine will lift it and dump it into the scows. The interior will be lighted by gas. The caisson contains 1,500,000 feet of lumber, 100 tons of wrought iron in the shape of bolts, angle-irons and plates, and weighs from 2,500 to 3,000 tons.

The work of dredging was commenced on the 2d of January. The bottom was composed of clay, gravel and loose boulders; and to render it easy for this process piles were driven and then removed, and in holes thus made shells were deposited and exploded. Many of the boulders were over ten tons in weight and were destroyed by explosion through the means of divers. The work was prosecuted at night, and cost about $35,000.

On the nineteenth of March, at high tide, the monster caisson was launched at the yard of the builders, Messrs. Webb & Bell, at Greenpoint. This was effected without difficulty, although itself a work requiring great mechanical talent. Without a single mishap the huge structure slid down the ingeniously-constructed ways into the water. Then the air-pumps driven by a steam engine on deck, were set at work, and thus the caisson was raised considerably. It was then taken in tow by steamers and attached to a neighboring pier, where work on top of it was continued.

On the third of May, the place for it being ready, it was towed by four steamers and laid upon its bed near the Fulton ferry slip, where a dock had been built for it, into which it fitted exactly. Here the work of excavation is going on, and no trouble is anticipated, unless, perhaps, in sinking the edges may come upon large boulders.

Every obstacle, and such present themselves at every step, has been successfully overcome thus far, and we doubt not that the skillful engineers who have the matter in charge will be able to complete their gigantic undertaking. We have not sufficient space to speak more of the details of this most interesting work. In the boldness of its conception, the ingenuity displayed in its execution, and its magnitude and importance, connecting as it does two great cities, it will ever remain a colossal monument of American ingenuity and American skill and energy.

The Fate of Morgan.

* * * The account will be found in the work of Professor Finney, of Oberlin, on Masonry, taken, he says, from a pamphlet entitled "Confession of the murder of William Morgan, as taken down by Dr. John L. Emery, of Racine county, Wisconsin, in the summer of 1848." It is substantially the same in its statement with that of Mr. Garlinghouse. They differ as to the number of persons who drew lots for the performance of the fatal tragedy. Mr. Garlinghouse says there were twelve. The confession of Henry L. Valance says it was resolved in a council of eight that he must die. Three of their number were to be selected by ballot to execute the deed, and he was one who drew a ballot with the letter D on it. Two others drew similar ones. They proceeded to the fort at midnight to put Morgan to death. The others who drew blanks returned immediately to their homes. Valance was to announce to Morgan his fate, and his companions were to procure a boat and weights with which to sink him. When he was informed of their proceedings against him, he commenced wringing his hands and talking of his wife and children. "His wife," he said, "was young and inexperienced, and his children were but infants; what would become of them were he cut off, etc." Morgan was taken out of the fort, bound and gagged, and placed in the boat. Valance says his comrades took the oars, and the boat was rapidly forced out into the river. The night was pitch dark, and they could scarcely see a yard before them. Having reached a proper distance from the shore, the oarsmen ceased their labors. The weights were secured by a strong cord, and another cord of equal strength and of several yards in length proceeded from that. This, says V., "I took in my hand and fastened it around the body of Morgan, just above the hips. We then bade him stand up. The weights were arranged on the edge of the boat. This was done, and as Morgan was standing with his back toward me, I gave him a strong push with both my hands. He fell forward, carrying the weights with him, and the waters closed over him. We remained quiet for two or three minutes, when my companions, without saying a word, resumed their places, and rowed the boat to the place from which they had taken it." A confession of crime extorted from a dying man by remorse is generally received as ample testimony of the fact.—Cor. Rochester Chronicle.

The Revolution newspaper has changed hands. Mrs. Anthony and Mrs. Stanton probably finding it a drag upon their newly fledged ideas of social economy. It is stated that Mrs. Bullard, of Brooklyn, a lady tolerably well known as a woman's rights advocate, is the new proprietor of the concern, with Theodore Tilton—what will he not be into next?—as an interested partner. Mrs. Jennie June Croly, gossip says, will be the hard working editor, a position for which she is better fitted than any woman we know of. Of course Tilton will have a hand in, and Susan B. Anthony and Mrs. Stanton will pull at the oar occasionally, so that on the whole the tone of the paper will not probably be greatly changed, and furthermore it may experience a needed reinvigoration.

UNITED STATES MAIL.

WASHINGTON & ALASKA TERRITORIES.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, April 30, 1870.

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED AT THE CONTRACT Office of this Department until 3 o'clock P. M. of Wednesday, June 8, 1870, (to be decided by the 30th), for carrying the mails of the United States from July 1, 1870, or as soon thereafter as practicable, to June 30, 1872, on the following route in the Territory of

WASHINGTON,

And by the schedule of departures and arrivals herein specified, viz:

15421 From Port Townsend, by San Juan, Fort Tongas, and Fort Wrangle, to Sitka, Alaska Territory, 900 miles and back, once a month, in suitable and safe steamboats.
Leave Port Townsend on the 1st of every month;
Arrive at Sitka on the 10th of the same month;
Leave Sitka on the 15th of every month;
Arrive at Port Townsend on the 22d of the same month.

Proposals to begin service at Portland, Oregon, instead of Port Townsend, 500 miles farther, invited. Also, for service twice a month.

Instructions,

Containing conditions to be incorporated in the contract to the extent the Department may deem proper:

The Special Agents of the Postoffice Department on exhibition of their credentials also Post-office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys, are to be conveyed without charge.

The route agents of the Department, should it appoint them, to be conveyed without charge, and for their exclusive use while traveling with the mails a room or apartment is to be provided by the contractor, under the direction of the department.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions, not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not satisfactorily excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Deduction will also be ordered for a grade of performance inferior to that specified in the contract. For repeated delinquencies of the kind, enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof and importance of the mail may be made.

Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters or the affidavits of other credible persons, for failing to arrive in contract time, for neglecting to take the mail from or deliver it into a post office, for suffering it to be wet, injured, destroyed, robbed or lost, and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running, a conveyance on the route.

The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract, for violating the post office laws, or disobeying the instructions of the department.

The Postmaster General may order an increase of the service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase in the contract pay. He may change the schedule of departures and arrivals, provided that by so doing the running time be not abridged.

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to be such by a postmaster or a judge of a court of record. The department reserves the right to reject any bid which may be deemed extravagant, and also to disregard the bids of failing contractors and bidders.

For forms of proposal, guarantee and certificate, and also for other instructions as to the conditions to be embraced in the contract, &c. see advertisement of September 30, 1869, inviting proposals for mail service in California and Oregon and Washington, to be found at the principal postoffices.

Bids should be sent in sealed envelopes, superscribed, "Mail Proposals, Route No. 15421, Washington Territory," and addressed to the Second Assistant Postmaster General.

JNO. A. J. CRESWELL,
Postmaster General.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life! In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating the disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, Intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not lecture people by exhibiting bogus certificates, (pretended patient's letters, etc.) Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call on him of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 1957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

Manufacturer of Fire-Proof Doors, Shutters and Bank Vaults.

GRATING, CEMETERY RAILING, BALCONIES, &c., Oregon street, between Front and Davis, next east of the Iron Foundry.

All orders from the interior of Oregon and Washington Territory, or any part of the Coast, attended to with promptness and dispatch.

Mr. SIMS, grateful for the past liberal patronage of his friends and the public, promises to merit it in the future. For the information of strangers he would say that he refers to the Bank of British Columbia; to his work on the Bank of London, and on the Coast, which the principal buildings in Portland, Salem, and the Dalles, Oregon. Vouchers of works can be seen on many of the finest buildings in San Francisco, fully attest.

Also, a very large lot of Second Hand Shutters, of various dimensions, all for sale at very low rates.

Mr. E. M. BURTON, Portland, Oregon, will forward orders for work of all kinds, free of charge.
